Description and Sources

Description

Water Mill: Three storey stone building. Mansard roof laid with shaped slates, rebuilt 1848 when the wheelhouse and mill house from previous mill were retained. Undershot wheel. <1>

Millpond: Millpond to an 18th century mill. <not sourced>

A mill is shown in this location on the William Yates map of Staffordshire, indicating that there has been a mill here since at least the late 18th century. (SB, 07-June-2005) <2>

The sophisticated design, the materials and workmanship of the building suggest the influence of an architect and also a wealthy landowner. Chorlton Mill belonged to the Duke of Sutherland, and the architects plans are held in the County Record Office (see also Source ST4043). Three pulleys belonging to the sack hoist remain in situ, but the wheel and the three pairs of stones an gearing have all been removed. (SB, 07-June-2005) <3>

Notes on the original Sutherland Collection Drawing state that the mill wheel measured 17 ft. in diameter by 4 ft. 6 inches in wide. (SB, 07-June-2005) <4>

The mill is shown as a 'Corn Mill' on the 1st Edition Ordnance Survey map of 1889. (SB, 07-June-2005) <5>

Significant placename. <1>

One of the nine settlements belonging to the Bishop of Chester's manor of Sugnall (see PRN 02574). There was land for four ploughs at Swynchurch. Four thanes and four Frenchman hold these eight outliers and other men hold from them. In lordship there are three ploughs. There are fourteen villagers and thirty-four smallholders who have ten ploughs between them. There is 12 acres of meadow. In 1066 the total value for these places was 62s; now the same, between them all. <2>

03587 - MST3361	Green Farmhouse, Chorlton Green	Monument

A listed farmhouse of medieval origin, which was extensively re-modelled in c.1600 and later altered and re-faced in the early 19th century. The farmhouse is of yellowish-brown brick with a tiled roof and was probably originally built as an open hall with 2 or 3 bays. Inside there is also exposed square panelling with wattle and daub infill plastered and what appears to be the remains of a cruck blade also surviving.

Description and Sources

Description

Chapel of Ease / Cemetery: A chapel of ease said to be of 12th century foundation, mentioned here in a chantry certificate of 1549. <1>

A chapel in 1552, rebuilt in 1832. <2>

There are some indications in the present church of an earlier building. Under the tower arch is a font of early (possibly Norman) date. In the walling of the tower there is some old masonry, and the belfry windows are reminiscent of those at Broughton (1633). There is a probable 16th century bell and a Jacobean oak pulpit. <3>
